Crookwell Gazette, Wednesday 7 February 1951
WEDDING
WILLOUGHBY - REEVES

A wedding that united two well-known families and created widespread interest, was that of Joyce Reeves and Alan Willoughby, which was celebrated at St. Edmund's Church of England, Gunning, recently. The Rev. J. Donoghue of Crookwell, officiated and later presided at the reception. Mrs Stan Morton was the organist. The bride, for whom the church had been prettily decorated by her friends, is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A Reeves, of Bevendale, and escorted by her brother, Mr. Reg Reeves made a radiant picture in her graceful bridal gown of ivory embossed satin, the fitted corsage had a high neckline and tulle yoke bordered with small rosebuds, long sleeves, and the buttons on the back extended below the waistline. The full circular skirt featured draped peplums on each side of waist and a full length scalloped lace train. The richly embossed tulle veil fell gracefully from a coronet of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of white regal lilies. The bride's attendant, her friend, Dawn Thomas, added charm to the wedding group in a pastel blue paisley patterned organza frock, the bodice of which had a draped collar which extended to a point at back to correspond with the pointed peplums on the back and front of the full circular skirt. With lace mittens, a curvette of blue straw, trimmed with matching flowers and veiling, she added a blue sapphire pendant the gift of the bridegroom and a bouquet of pink and white carnations and gladioli tied with blue ribbon. A cousin of the bride, Lorraine Muldoon, a dainty flower girl in a pink organza frock and coronet of fresh pink and white carnations, carried a basket of flowers that matched those carried by the bridesmaid. The bridegroom, who is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Willoughby of Crookwell, was attended by his brother, Stanley. At the reception which followed in the Industrial Hall Gunning, the mothers of the bride and bridegroom, welcomed over fifty guests Mrs. Reeves wore a wine coloured frock spotted crepe and Mrs. Willoughby's ensemble was of navy. Both added a shoulder spray of red carnations. On the beautifully decorated table, the two tiered wedding cake held pride of place. The usual toasts were honoured and the best man read out many congratulatory telegrams. When leaving for the honeymoon, the bride wore an attractive frock of golden linen with brown trimming and brown accessories. The future home of the young couple will be in Gunning.
