“A CLEVER ROGUE BUT OFTEN IN "PRISON”.

Word was received yesterday by the Inspector-General of Police that Charles Ernest, Chadwick, who was known by the police of four continents, as .the Prince of Swindlers, and who was arrested at Burruga, New South Wales last July. was extradited. to Africa in charge of Detective Sergeant Tuffs in November, appeared at, the Durban General Sessions last month. He was sentenced to only 18 month imprisonment on the charge for which he was. apprehended here swindling the Standard Bank of £1000 by mean of valueless drafts on the Government Savings Bank of New South Wales.

Before receiving sentence he displayed his oratorical powers by addressing the Judge. A verbatim report of his remarks is on follows:-

My lord in considering all the facts and circumstances in connection with this case, I do not see one palliating circumstance that I can offer to you in mitigation of punishment. To say that I drink to excess, I used drugs, had a passion for gambling, is hardly an excuse, especially from a man which has had the advantages that I have had in life. I might say that the only good thing that I have done, in this whole crusade is to save the expense to the Crown of bringing witnesses here from Australia to prove the truth of the charge. It would have been altogether be useless for me to have stood trial. No one knows better than myself there was nothing else but for me to plead guilty. But during the last nine months, all of which time I have been in gaol on the charge, I say that if you knew the agony of mind that I have suffered, if you had in your judicial capacity, the power to read the heart of the man who stands before you this morning, you would, know that there, had been an absolute change in me; and when you know that I must suffer the penalty for having committed this, outrage against society, that other may be deterred from committing like offences, and when that sentence is served, whether it be a light sentence or the severest when the prison doors open again to let me come out, I will come out a new man and changed man entirely, to take my place in a humble capacity as a useful member of the society that I am serving. I therefore ask you to show me whatever mercy, you can conscientiously give. That is all"

After he has served his sentence in South Africa the Californian police, will have him extradited to the United States, where in San Francisco he will be called upon to stand his trial for swindling the parents of his fifth wife whom he also defrauded and deserted early this year.

The apprehension by the New South Wales police of such a notorious criminal; as Chadwick was probably there greatest and best effort for many years and they landed a prize that hundred of detectives in the United States, England, Canada, and South Africa were eager to gain. Undoubtedly, Chadwick proved himself to be one of the boldest and most original crooks of the English speaking world today. With a knowledge of dispensing medicines, the profession he followed in London many years ago, he posed as a fully fledged doctor, and treated thousands of patients at different times, and on several occasions even sat in consultation fully qualified medical men, whom he completely hoodwinked.

To carry out one of his schemes, he went so far, in 1897, as to occupy the pulpit at a Toronto (Canada) church, and, taking advantage of the confidence reposed in him by the members of the congregation, he defrauded many of them, and finished up by marrying a heiress, who was also one of the worshippers. He has been married five times, and on one occasion, in 1903, the ceremony was performed in a Californian gaol, the bride being a Gospel Mission worker who visited the penitentiary to administer spiritual advice to the prisoners. She met Chadwick several times, and became so enamored with him that she accepted his proposal and became his wife. The ceremony was performed in Chadwick's cell by the gaol chaplain, but later on, when he regained his liberty, he made his bride one of his hundreds of victims.

In Sydney 23 Years Ago

As far back as 1889 Chadwick came to Australia, and, it is stated, started his criminal career in this city. He was 18 years of age at the time, and arrived here by the steamer Ormuz. He had been a dispenser in London; but in consequence of failing health he came to this country. He became a boarder in a house in Bullanaming Street, Redfern, and was looked upon as a very unassuming person. He was a good entertainer, and in the evenings generally favored his fellow-boarders with a few songs, the piano accompaniments of which he played himself. He seemed to be financially strong, and for months he mooned away his time wandering about sight-seeing.

Heir to "The Chadwick Estate."

He used to tell his landlady and the boarders about his aristocratic relatives, and never forgot to impress upon his hearers that he was the real heir to 'the Chadwick estates' in England. It was during the maritime strike of 1890 that Chadwick first came under notice, The Government decided to swear in special constables to assist in maintaining order.

A true individualist, the supposed heir to the Chadwick estates had a leaning towards the capitalistic side in the strike, and he never let an opportunity pass without expounding his views, and deprecating the action taken by the seamen. Whether out of a spirit of bravado or whether of sincerity, he was, when the call was made for the special constables, one of the first to hand in his name. He was appointed and for many weeks patrolled the streets by baton in hand; assisting in the work of, as he termed it, protecting life and property. The strike finished, Chadwick turned in his warrant card to the Inspector-General of Police, who complimented him for the services he had rendered. Arrested at Redfern

Being out of employment, his ready money, gradually, vanished and early in 1891 he was almost stranded. He commenced to work for his first trick in Australia on a woman, who had probably listened, open mouthed; while he romanced about his blue-blooded relatives, and their fabulous wealth he had his victim fairly; ripe for plucking he hurried to her place one afternoon and allowed her his purported letter, from the Chancellor of the Exchequer, London, stating that he had acquired the Chadwick estates in England. On the strength of this information he obtained from her a good sum of money. Later on however, she became suspicious and informed her friends of her action. She went to the Redfern Police Station and complained; Chadwick learned that his victim was speaking with the police; and he moved to another part of Redfern. Detective Cook, now head of Cooke's Detective Agency, and Inspector McLean, of Balmain, then a plain clothes constable in Redfern, eventually arrested Chadwick in King Street. He was sent for trial on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences, but was acquitted. On a similar charge, however, he was convicted at the General Sessions in 1893, and was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment."

Started Practice as Doctor.

After serving his sentence Chadwick started out again on a money-making mission. He conceived the idea of practicing as a medical man, and Inspector M'Bean came across him in Riley-street, where he was occupying a large house. On the front gate the plate advertised him as "Dr. Cooper." As soon as the present Balmain inspector of police got on his track he discontinued practice and fled. The police records show that he was suspected of false pretences a few months later at both Yass and Junee, but again escaped prosecution.

"Married Thrice in Two Years".

His first matrimonial exploit dates back to 1895, when he married a Sydney lady. He was then going under the name of "Harry Westwood Cooper." He deserted her, and went to Brisbane, where, a year later, almost to the day, he wedded a 17-year-old girl. With her he left for England for "the ostensible purpose of claiming "the Chadwick estates," and that was the last Australia saw of the notorious trickster till last June. When he arrived in London he had obtained all his wife's money, which amounted to nearly £3000, and, leaving her penniless, he went to Liverpool, and sailed for New York. He was not long in the United States before he was again in trouble. He lodged with a Philadelphia bank a worthless "draft on the bank of England, for £10,000. The bank officials took the paper, but declined to pay on it; until advice reached from London. The consequence was that "Dr. Cooper" the name under which he was then known, was, when certain information arrived from London later on. Arrested and tried, but was discharged. His marriage with the Toronto heiress was celebrated in 1897, and after taking her to Chicago and fleecing her of as much money as he could, he left her. At about the same time he defrauded a landlady of £500, and with pockets well filled with cash he fled from Chicago, bound for the Western States.

CHARLES ERNEST CHADWICK (alias Sir Harry Westwood).

VISITS PACIFIC COAST

Until the beginning of the last year Chadwick spent nearly 15 years on the Pacific Coast, most of which was in gaol. When he reached San Francisco he planned to elope with a waitress employed at the Langham Hotel, but his scheme fell through, because of his learning that a story of wealth connected with the girl was untrue. He then turned his attention to the Croker-Woolworth National Bank, in which he deposited a worthless draft on the Bank of New South Wales, Sydney for £1000. For this he was arrested at the Langham Hotel, by Detectives Lees and Seymour. Additional charges were, made namely two for forgery and the same number for having counterfeiting tools in his possession. He was sentenced to three years imprisonment in the San Quentin prison, California.

“Plans to Murder a Warder”

Behind prison bars for the first time since his gaol experience. In Australia; Chadwick who was then known as Sir Harry Westwood Cooper; became, very much discontented with the change in his affairs. He had three wives hunting; for him, high and low, but they were, unable to trance him. The prison authorities regarded him as a clever and dangerous criminal, and instructions were given that he was to be carefully watched. This, nettled the bogus baronet, considerably;-and he laid plans to break out of the prison. The guard over him was, however, extremely attentive, and, he realised that in order to carry out. His scheme he would have to murder the man. With this purpose in view, he conspired with some fellow prisoners to kill the warder who was guarding him, and promised them a good sum of money if they would accomplish the deed. The plot however, fell through. The governor of the gaol; got word of it and Chadwick was compelled to serve his full term, much to his disgust.

Again Practicing Medicine

Discharged from San Quentin; prison, Chadwick struck out for fresh fields and pastures new. He went to a town called Crockett, not far from San Francisco and became the locum tenens for a local doctor during his vacation. With remarkable confidence and effrontery, he visited the sick, and prescribed for them and when he left the place through his amiability- to the sufferers engrained himself in their good graces. had he desired to practice, permanently in the town, he would probably have been the leading medico in Crockett; but he was after bigger game and possessed, with, forged letters from, the "High Court of – London stating that he had bequeathed £17,000 by an aunt, who had died in Surrey, he next commenced operating. Vallejo; a town close to San Francisco.

British Consul Imposed Upon

The faked London-letter regarding his aunt's bequest was evidently not to a successful issue, or perhaps it was discarded for a better means of obtaining easy money. About this time Chadwick's attention, however, was diverted to a pretty 15 year daughter of the Consul who was staying and gained her affection but once again he turned his thought to a swindle on Donohue-Kelly Bank in San Francisco using a forged signature for the Consul of the Pacific Coast. A telegram was supposed to come for him from Southampton for £500 he eloped with Valechi to Oregon, Utah. Were he was arrested, back once more to San Francisco, he received a sentence of ten years imprisonment and renewed his acquaintance with the San Francisco prison authorities. During his incarceration he was married in gaol to the mission worker and there. He twice signed the signature of Superintendent Troutt of San Francisco ordering his discharge. These were delivered to a person outside of the gaol of the prison to the Governor by an official who afterwards go to into trouble for attempting Chadwick in escaping from gaol. After serving his full term he was released in September 1st lat year.

Gets Married Again

After a decade in gaol, Chadwick was not inclined to lead an honourable life, and he commenced the same old game again, practicing medicine and swindling women. He took a house in Oatland, across the bay from San Francisco, and styled himself “Dr. Milton Abrahams”. He visited local hospital and there met on of the nurses whom he married in February 1912. He robbed her of £200 and fleeced her father of a considerable sum of money. He induced her to go with him to Chicago, where he deserted her, left for New York and sailed for England last March.

Impersonates a Famous Doctor

Shortly after her reached England the discovery by a famous physician Dr. McKay of consumption, was printed in all the local newspapers. The information gave Chadwick fertile brain an idea, and he quickly acted upon it. Sailing from London to South Africa on one of the Castle line steamers, he booked his passage under the name of "Dr. McKay". On board he talked about "his" wonderful discovery, and was a great favorite with the passengers. He was chairman of all the committees organized to provide entertainments during the voyage. He won the good graces of an English Baronet, with whom he left the steamer with at Durban. Here the "doctor" worked the swindle for which he was sentenced last month. After obtaining the money he went to Johannesburg and then onto Capetown. Speaking of his adventure Childs shortly after his arrest, Chadwick smiling told. The warning he received from an unsuspecting guest at the hotel where he was staying, of the clues of the police regarding his tricking the bank of £1000. "I was sitting in the lounge of the hotel one evening," said Chadwick when one of the guests commences to talk about the big swindle on the Standard Bank. The papers were full and the story and detectives were burning hot to get there hands on the swindler. The guest appeared to be very much concerned in the affair, and his interest made me feel very uneasy. I wondered whether he was a detective. However he told me that the man suspected was one who had worked a number of good swindles in United States and Canada and had done in California. When he imparted this information, I said to myself "Charles Ernest, this place is too hot for you," so I decided to get away. Knowing that the steamers would be watched. I induced a lady to book a passage for herself and maid on the Miltiades, bound for Australia. When the boat sailed I took the place of the maid. Among the passengers, I was known as "Surgeon-Major Swinton Holmes of the Fifth Dragoon Guards." We arrived in Melbourne last June; I stayed in the Menzies Hotel, and later came to Sydney where I put up in the Hotel Australia. Fearing that things might get warm here, I went to a hotel in Strathfield. I decided to strike out for the country to a lovely little town of Burruga, where I commenced practice as a doctor and I was doing fine, when up came Inspector Anderson from Bathurst and said he had instructions from Mr. Day to arrest me. I tried a good hard at bluff on him, but I couldn't work it. I was to get married in that town to. Gee, you police over here are hot stuff over here. I dodged them all till I came to Sydney.

How the Arrest Came About

From the information gained by Inspector Childs after the arrival of the Miltiades, in Sydney, it was decided to search for "Surgeon-Major Swinton Holmes" as it was believed that he was illegally practicing as medical man in this state. Superintendent Roche instructed Senior Detectives Bradley and Walker, and Detective Malone to take charge of the case, and the suspect was traced to Burruga, where he was known as "Dr. W. J. Boyd". Mr. Day acting on further information, obtained from Inspector Childs, had the pseudo-doctor apprehended and brought to Sydney by Constable De Sals of Bathurst. When her arrived at Police Headquarters, he was immediately identified as the notorious swindler and bigamist of four continents. The Marathon arrives in Melbourne today and is due in Durban on January 16.

The Sydney Morning Herald Tuesday 9 January 1923 RAILWAY FATALITY INSPECTOR'S TRAGIC END. WAGGA

Monday- A dreadful railway fatality occurred this morning, when Inspector Charles Bye was killed in full view of the passengers aboard the Sydney to Melbourne mail. Main Inspector Bye, who was a bridge inspector for the section of the main southern railway from Albury to Goulburn, was making an inspection of the viaduct which, runs from near Wagga Railway Station to the bridge spanning the Murrumbidgee River. Inspector Bye had reached a point about 100 yards from the river when the mail train, which was due at Wagga at 9 25, came thundering over the bridge. Inspector Bye apparently made for the safety zone near the old pumping stage, but failed to reach it and the engine struck him, sending the unfortunate man hanging over the viaduct to the ground, a distance of about 20 feet. The driver stopped the train a few yards further on and climbed down from the viaduct to where Inspector Bye was lying. He was covered with blood, and was beyond human aid. The injuries were so extensive that death must have been instantaneous. The passengers who witnessed the tragic happening were greatly shocked, Inspector Bye was well-known inspector throughout the southern districts, and it is believed was due for retirement shortly.

Obituary

Mrs. John. Slater

Mrs. John Slater, aged 41, who died in the Crookwell Hospital on Wednesday, was a well-known resident of the Crookwell district.

Born at Redground, the late Mrs. Slater was a daughter of Mrs. B. Skelly, and the late Frank Skelly, and had lived the whole of her life in the Laggan district. She was taken to hospital a few days prior to her death, the news of which came as a shock to her many friends.

The late Mrs. Slater is survived by her husband and three sons, the youngest of whom is only four. She leaves her mother, seven brothers, James, Frank, Andrew, Michael, Will Skelly (Redground), Alfred and John Skelly (Newcastle), and one sister, Mrs. George Stephenson (Crookwell).

The remains were interred in the Catholic Cemetery at Laggan, the Rev. Father O'Connell officiating at the graveside

Obituary

Mr. J. C. Slater

A district grazier, Mr. John Cement Slater, aged 78, of "By Chance", Laggan, whose death occurred at Crookwell District Hospital, was born and educated at Richlands, Taralga.

At the age of 17 he left Richlands, and went, with his family, to live at Redground.

He later married Miss Annie Skelly, and lived at Crookwell and Roslyn before settling on his property "By Chance", Laggan, in 1935, where he spent his remaining years.

Mr. Slater's wife predeceased him by 33 years, and his task in rearing his young family was by no means an easy one.

But his devotion to his children, in keeping them together was well rewarded in his later years, by their strong support in caring for him in the last years of his life, when his health failed.

Mr. Slater was a devout Catholic. He was a gifted musician and excelled with the violin.

He is survived by three sons, three sisters and one brother, and four grandchildren. Sons are Ron (Earlwood), Mac and Foster (Laggan), sisters Mrs. Kate Skelly (Merrylands), Mrs. Elsie Skelly (Clifford St, Goulburn), Mrs. Frank Skelly Snr. (Wade St, Crookwell); and brother Mr. Tom Slater (Park Street, Goulburn. Two brothers, Ned and Jim, predeceased him.

After a service at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, Laggan, internment took place in Laggan Cemetery, Rev. Father L. Reynolds officiating. Pallbearers were his grandson John Slater, nephew Clinton Skelly, Greg Hart, and Colin Allport.

Children of ANNIE SKELLY and JOHN SLATER are:

72. i. RONALD CLEMENT<sup>4</sup> SLATER, b. 15 Apr 1916, Crookwell, NSW; d. 18 Aug 1990, Earlwood NSW.

23. ELSIE ALICE<sup>3</sup> SKELLY (FRANCIS<sup>2</sup>, JOHN<sup>1</sup>) was born 1897 in Crookwell NSW Rg.11772, and died 09 Apr 1966 in Crookwell District Hospital NSW (69). She married GEORGE BENJAMIN STEPHENSON 12 Dec 1917 in Goulburn rg 12026, son of GEORGE STEPHENSON and JANE SHARMAN. He was born 20 Aug 1895 in Crookwell, NSW, and died 21 Aug 1961 in Crookwell District Hospital, NSW.

Crookwell Gazette
OBITUARY

MRS. E. A. STEPHENSON

The death occurred at Crookwell District Hospital on April 9 of Mrs. Elsie Alice Stephenson of Goulburn Street Crookwell at the age of 69. She had suffered a long and agonizing illness with dignity and without complaint.

Her husband, George Benjamin Stephenson, died about four and a half years ago. The late Mrs. Stephenson devoted the whole of her life to the interests of her family and home life and her loss will be a sad one, not only to the immediate members of her family but to her wide circle of friends. She is survived by two daughters, Gloria (Mrs. Jack Leonard, Bannister), Cottie (Mrs. Keith Bolton, Woodhouselee) and six sons, Frank, Bill, Mervyn, Bob, Wallace and Larry all of Crookwell. Two sons, Reg and Kevin predeceased her. Internment took place at the Crookwell Cemetery on April 10 following Requiem Mass at St Mary's Church celebrated by Rev Fr Donnelly. The size of the cortege and the large number of floral tributes were an indication of the high esteem in which the deceased was held in the town and district. Pallbearers were sons Frank, Mervyn, Bob and Wallace.

ELSIE ALICE STEPHENSON

Burial: 10 Apr 1966, Crookwell, NSW

The Crookwell Gazette,
22 September 1961
OBITUARY

Mr. George Benjamin Stephenson.

With the passing of George Benjamin Stephenson in the Crookwell District Hospital on Monday, August 21, Crookwell lost one of its most popular and highly respected citizens. The son of the late George and Jane Stephenson, the deceased was born in Crookwell and lived here all his life. He suffered a long and painful illness prior to his demise. Aged 66, Mr. Stephenson was a farmer and dairyman until illness forced him to retire from an active life at 49. He served with the Royal Light Horse Brigade in the First AIF. In his youth he was a keen sportsman and excelled at football and athletics. He married Elsie Skelly at Crookwell in 1917 and there were ten children of the union, nine of whom are still living. Mr. Stephenson is survived by his wife and seven sons, Frank, Kevin, William, Mervyn, Robert, Wallace and Larry and two daughters, Gloria (Mrs. J. Leonard, Bannister) and Elsie (Mrs. K. Bolton, Woodhouselee). One son Reginald predeceased him.

Possessing a retiring disposition Mr. Stephenson lived for his family and his home. A largely attended funeral moved from St. Bartholomew's Church to the Church of England portion of the Crookwell Cemetery where internment took place. Pall bearers were Messrs. I. Leonard, Keith Bolton, Mervyn Stephenson and Robert Stephenson. Rev. S. Willey read the prayers at the church and graveside.

New Years Eve Wedding
Crookwell Gazette

Alison Skelly and Gene George married by local celebrant Jan Fenton at Crookwell Showgrounds on New Year's Eve 2011.

There were 110 family and friends, including Gene's mother Heather George, attending to share and to celebrate, attending to share and to celebrate with them this very special and joyous occasion.

Alison's brother Kip had the honour of escorting Alison to her marriage partner Gene.

He symbolically brought to the bride and groom, on behalf of everyone present, love and best wishes for along and happy married life together.

Alison was accompanied by flower girls Tara and Marnie McCormack, Zara George and Sienna Charnock.

Gene was honoured to have his sons Adam and Lachlan stand by his side through the ceremony and to act as ring bearers.

Special mention was made of Alison's parents Des and Mildred Skelly and Gene's father Colin George, now deceased.

They would be very proud to see Alison and Gene being married.

Thank you to Geraldine Johnson and Barry Donovan who were the official witnesses on the day and to Becky Charnock who was the photographer.

Also a very big thank you to Gene's niece Kimberlie Chudleigh who made the spectacular three tiered wedding cake.

The showground was attractively decked out by a small group of industrious family and friends.

All the decorations used were beautifully handmade with everyone commenting on how elegant and special it looked.

Alison and Gene will continue to make their home in Crookwell.

Mick's Final Dustoff

I have just been informed by his mate, Bill O'Mara that Michael Skelly A Company 2nd Tour passed away this morning at 10am 2 April 2010 in Goulburn Hospital. Further details will be published when made available. Michael is featured on page 249 in the latest edition of The Year of the Tigers.

From Bill O'Mara:

Mick was in a bad way in the Intensive care Unit ( ICU ) at the Canberra Hospital for almost a fortnight. His Mum told me that he asked to be checked out and returned to Goulburn Hospital to die. To accommodate Mick's wish to be nearer to his Mum, three brothers and five sisters, DVA arranged for a Chopper flight all the way to Goulburn. Not a 'Huey', but I don't think that Mick would have minded too much.

His Mum, Joan, told me that he was coming good on the Monday night and when I spoke with his Nurse on the Tuesday she confirmed, that in true Tiger Spirit, Mick had rallied and was off life support and had been transferred to a ward. She passed on my message to Mick, that he was able to acknowledge.

When I called back in the hope of more good news at 1:30pm on Friday 2nd April, I asked the Nurse about Mick, there was a brief silence, then she gave me the gut wrenching news that Mick had passed away about 10:00 am that morning. It is a comfort to know, that all his family were with him to the end.

I knew Mick for 43 years and even on that sad day I couldn't think about him for too long without smiling or crying. That day, and the next, I did both, as did some of his old Platoon Mates from A Company. We attended Mick's spine tingling funeral service at the local Cathedral. His service started with, Simon O'Donnell's "One day at a time" and finished with "Ill Silenzio" by Nino Rossi. Mick was a born & bred Goulburn boy and the church was packed. It was good to see that Peter Wells, Brian Lewis, Norman Chiew and Brian Almond from Mick's old Platoon made it to say their farewells. I also thank them for the photos of Mick.

My mind takes Mick and I back to our time in 1968 at Canungra where we played "Enemy" for about six weeks. Over the Easter break we headed back to Goulburn/Canberra for the four days leave. It was a hell of a hike, something like 13 hours in the old EK Holden. Mick, as usual kept us entertained with his antics and some of the things he said that have me smiling even today. We also had many trips to and from Holdsworthy when we had a weekends leave.

I also remember the day on an exercise up North somewhere, that Mick mowed down a good sized gum tree from maybe 50-60 yards with his M60 from the hip. Anyway, back to our Easter trip down south. Getting back to Canungra was a bit of a problem and we weren't going to make it on time. So we arranged for a tow truck operator at Taree to give us a dodgey receipt that we had been broken down and had to be towed to his workshop.

The Brass wouldn't buy our story and even told us that the same tow truck driver had tried to help other diggers several times before us. We were charged with being AWOL. The very next morning we were targeted on parade and both our weapons inspected. They couldn't get the gas plugs out of our SLR's as we'd put them in the armory, wet and un-oiled in our rush to go on leave a few days before. Needless to say that was charge number two. Early that evening we then got sprung for "drinking in the lines". We expected them to lock us up and throw away the key.

First thing next morning we faced the music on the three charges. I've long forgotten what we copped, except having to do everything at the double, and changing uniforms constantly. The punishment must have been reasonably lenient, as Mick and I were both at the Beenleigh Pub for my 21st birthday the day before Anzac day and Mick had his 21st on May 29th.

Mick lived with his Mum to his final days and never married. Instead, he was a favourite Uncle to a tribe of Nieces & Nephews. Of the four Skelly boys, Mick, Clyde and Steve all served with 5RAR at some point in time.

Is that a record? Both Mick & Clyde served in Vietnam on the 2nd Tour while Bernard, the youngest, joined Artillery. Four boys in the Army and Mick's five sisters were all Nurses. The Skelly Gang sure did their bit for Aussie.

Mick is survived by his Mum Joan, and brothers Clyde, Steve & Bernard and sisters Kaye, Joy, Cheryl, Sandra and Jo-Anne You've done more than your bit Mick, and thanks for being a True Blue Mate and for the great memories.

RIP Mate.
Bill O'Mara

The Crookwell Gazette, 26 July 1993

Mr. F. J. Stephenson

Francis John Stephenson was born April 28, 1918, the eldest child of George Benjamin and Elsie Alice Stephenson. He had seven brothers (Reginald and Kevin deceased), Bill, Mervyn, Bob, Wallace and Larry and two sisters Elsie, "Cotty" (Mrs. Keith Holton) and Gloria (Mrs. Jack Leonard). Frank was educated at Crookwell Public School. When he completed his education he worked with his father as wool and hide dealers and also operated a milk run from the farm at Kentgrove, Crookwell, in conjunction with an orchard. Frank had a great love of horses and would enter in the local shows. He also rode buck jumpers. He was a keen Rugby League player, who played with Crookwell and was secretary of the club. After the war he played with St. Mary's. In 1940 he married Clare Monica Storrier. They had six children: Faye, Keiran, Beverly, Christine, Wayne and Catherine. After his marriage Frank went into the carrier business, carting wheat out west and wood. When the ore mine opened he carted ore until it closed down. He then started a fruit and vegetable ran around town and district. Later he opened a fruit and vegetable shop, which he closed in 1966. He also grew potatoes for many years. When he retired, he became a very keen gardener, supplying friends and neighbours and family with fresh vegetables. He was also a very keen fisherman and spent many weekends at Burrinjuck and Wyangala Dams. "Brother Frank" as he became known to all would often visit the hospital cheering up those he came in contact with. Frank died on April 8, 1993, aged 74. He is survived by his wife and six children, 16 grandchildren, three great grand children, One grandson, Nathan, predeceased him. A large crowd attended Requiem Mass at St Mary's Catholic Church, Crookwell, celebrated by Fr. Peter Murphy.

Interment took place in the Lawn Cemetery where members of the Crookwell Bowling Club formed a Guard of Honour. Pallbearers were Keith Webster, Don Campbell, Merv and Ken Stephenson.

CROOKWELL RESIDENT KILLED

A man was killed when struck on the head by the locking rim of a truck wheel in the Crookwell area yesterday. He was Kevin Stephenson, 42, of Spring Street, Crookwell. The accident occurred on the Tuena-Binda Road. Stephenson, an employee of W. Gay, a contractor to the Crookwell Shire Council, was attempting to remove welding slag from a spare wheel to enable it to be fitted to a lorry when the inner rim collapsed. The locking rim flew off and crashed into his face. He was taken to Crookwell District hospital but was dead on arrival. He is survived by his wife and four young children Jeanette, Marilyn, Kaylene and Brent.

Name: Tom Skelly

Age: 16

Youth Squads: NSW U/17

Club: Southern Zone - Tully Park

Playing Profile: One of the most exciting fast bowlers to have come through our program. Tom is quick and has the great ability to move the ball. A relative unknown person at the moment, we are sure this will change very quickly. Tom's improvement over the past 6 months has been outstanding. A committed young man was a member of the NSW U/17 team that competed in the National Championship in Hobart January 2011. Failing injury will be the spearhead of the U/17s attack again this year. Tom will join the NSW Champions League tour party thanks to our Basil Sellers scholarship and take part in the pre tour preparation

A tale of two Skellys
28 Nov, 2011

CROOKWELL cricketer Nick Skelly will face some of the brightest up-and-coming cricketers next month – among them his cousin and best friend, Tom. The 15-year-old all-rounder was last week selected in the ACT under 17s team to compete at the National Titles in Hobart from December 6 to 15. And while he'll pay homage to the teenage fast bowlers from around Australia labelled as Test potential, there is one he's most eager to face: his cousin Tom Skelly.

The two, according to Nick's father Kip, are closer than any set of brothers you'll find. But they'll leave their friendship in the change room when New South Wales, a team spearheaded by Tom, meets Nick's ACT.

"I'm really looking forward to facing Tom in a game," Nick, a batting all-rounder who isn't afraid to let rip with some leg spin, said.

"He's my best mate and I've faced plenty of him before, never anything like this though."

Nick admitted he was surprised when ACT high performance coach Andrew Dawson phoned with the good news last week.

"I'm pretty excited, over the moon you could say," he said.

"It'll be a challenge but it will make me a better cricketer."

His selection didn't come as a surprise to Dawson, who's watched the Crookwell High School student develop as a player and person.

"The reality is Nick has performed at every opportunity," Dawson said.

"His all-round ability is really exciting, especially at that age. He's going to get an opportunity against the best 17-year-olds in the country."

The rapid rise of teenage Test debutant Patrick Cummins and the ascension of Nathan Lyon from misfit to the number one spinner in the country will provide added motivation, Dawson says.

"The other thing that's exciting for these young guys is that 12 months ago, Nathan Lyon was playing for the Comets. Now he's in the Australian team. There's a big opportunity for them," he said.

When the National Titles commence, Nick won't be caught up in the prospect of further representative selection.

He'll be determined to get one up on his cousin.

Man airlifted after falling from truck

AN 18-year-old man was flown to Canberra Hospital on Tuesday afternoon after he suffered serious head injuries in a workplace accident at a property along Currandooley Road, Bungendore.

Goulburn man Andrew Skelly was working for Fyshwick-based tree-logging company Treeworks when he fell from a rigid tipper truck at around 2.10pm on Tuesday afternoon.

His colleagues called emergency services, and the South Care helicopter was sent a short time later.

Queanbeyan police enquiries revealed that the driver of the truck, 27-year-old Kurt Lindsay Carney, also of Goulburn, was a suspended driver on bail for a previous driving offence.

While Carney's driving is not alleged to have caused the accident, he was nevertheless charged with driving unlicensed and faced Queanbeyan Local Court on Wednesday, where he pleaded guilty to the offence.

Carney will be sentenced for this and a previous traffic offence at Moss Vale on February 6. His existing bail was continued until that date

AN 18-year-old Goulburn man is in a critical condition in hospital after a work accident near Bungendore on Tuesday afternoon.

Andrew Skelly was flown to Canberra Hospital following a fall from a rigid tipper truck at 'Lakelands,' a Currandooley Rd property at 2.10pm. He had been working for Fyshwick-based tree-logging company, Treeworks, at the time.

His colleagues called emergency services. Police have confirmed Mr. Skelly was injured post fall but were still investigating the cause. The truck, with chipper attached, was driven by an unlicensed Goulburn man.

Mr. Skelly suffered bleeding to his ears, nose and throat and was fitting, police facts tendered to Queanbeyan Local Court stated. Canberra Hospital staff considered his injuries to be life threatening on first assessment.

On Wednesday a hospital spokesman said he was in a critical but stable condition. The truck's driver, Kurt Lindsay Carney, 27, of Joshua St, Goulburn pleaded guilty in Queanbeyan Local Court on Wednesday to driving the truck without a licence.

The court heard that Carney had no heavy vehicle licence of any kind and currently has a suspended driver's licence following an alleged high range PCA last November. He has been on bail since that charge. However, Carney's driving is not alleged to have caused Tuesday's accident. He will be sentenced on both charges at Moss Vale Local Court on February 6. His existing bail was continued until that date.

Treeworks director Dominic Osborne said he and workmates were devastated by the accident. He confirmed that Mr. Skelly had been riding around the outside of the truck's driver's side, against company Occupational Health and Safety (OH&S) policy, when he fell.

While sensitive to the family's distress, Mr. Osborne told the Post his company trained workers in the safe use of vehicles, including sitting in a seat with seatbelt on. "He (Mr. Skelly) was the assigned driver and he was not meant to be (riding) there," Mr. Osborne said.

A five-man crew and three vehicles had been allocated to the job, felling and chipping trees on the property, 6km from Bungendore. The company is cooperating with police and Work Cover on the investigation. Mr. Osborne said the driver and another witness were unsure how Mr. Skelly was injured but did not feel he had been run over.

Police could not confirm this either. Work Cover declined comment until their investigation was complete. Mr. Osborne told the Post that Carney would be warned and counselled. He had spoken to the Skelly family, who was extremely worried about Andrew's condition.

"We're absolutely devastated (as well)," he said.

"We pride ourselves on our OH&S systems. All the things we think are issues are addressed in training and site specific assessments. We couldn't have foreseen what happened." Mr. Skelly had been working with Treeworks since last December and Mr. Carney since last November. Both were experienced in the industry, Mr. Osborne said.

The Goulburn Post was unable to update Mr. Skelly's condition yesterday or contact the family.
