Grenfell Record
Obituary

We regret to record the death of Mr. Abraham Wood, of Tinpot, an old and much respected resident of this district. The sad event occurred suddenly and quite unexpectedly about half past 5 p.m. on Thursday. Medical aid had been summoned, but when Dr. Gaden arrived life had fled: the cause, we understand, being heart failure. Deceased, who was 61 years of age, leaves a widow (niece of Mr. Wm. Jones), two sons and one daughter, who have our deepest sympathy. The funeral will pass through the town about half-past 2 today (Saturday)

Children of ABRAHAM WOODS and SARAH TURNER are:

Before Mr. Justice Ferguson
APPLICATION FOR BAIL. Alfred Harvey Grounds.

Mr. Markell, instructed by Messrs. Allan Campbell and Son, of Young (by their agents, Messrs. Garland, Seaborn, and Abbott), appeared for Grounds, and applied for bail. The accused had been committal for trial on, the charge involving a capital offence, and subsequently an application to the Magistrate for bail was refused. He now asked for bail, and said in his affidavit that, unless he was released, and had an opportunity of personally arranging for the attendance of witnesses, on his behalf, his trial would be prejudiced.

Mr. Hobson, who appeared for the Crown, opposed the application, but asked that if bail was allowed it should be substantial.

After hearing the affidavits, his Honor granted bail, prisoner in £200, and one surety in the same amount, or two in £100 each.

OBITUARY

An old and much respected resident of Laggan in the person of Mr. John Woods, passed away in the Crookwell hospital on Tuesday morning last. Mr. Woods had been ailing for about seven weeks, the immediate cause of death being a carbuncle on the back of the neck. During this painful illness he received careful and unremitting attention of Dr Conroy, and also, latterly, of the nursing staff of the Crookwell hospital. Despite the professional care and careful attention bestowed this malignant growth made such inroads upon his otherwise strong constitution that the thread of life became weaker and weaker, and he passed peacefully away in the presence of almost all his family on the day named. He was greatly comforted during his long and painful illness by the great love and affection of his wife and family, who did all that human flesh could do to minister to the wants of him they loved so well. The funeral left the deceased's late residence for the RC cemetery at Laggan at 2.15 pm on Wednesday last. A very large concourse of relative and friends came to pay their last tribute of respect to one who had been a friend to all. Several beautiful floral tributes were received. The Rev. Fr Torpey officiated at the graveside and the funeral arrangements were carried out by Messrs Kennedy and Spiers. The late John Woods was born at Camden on 22 December, 1845, and was thus 65 years of age at the time of his death. After leaving Camden he came to live at Gurrundah where he married Miss Hannah Withers, whose survives him. After a short residence at Collector he came to Laggan some twenty-five years ago, where he had resided every since. The deceased followed farming pursuits almost all his life, and he was a recognised authority on all matters pertaining thereto. Although by nature of a retiring disposition, the deceased made many friends in the district, and he was ever ready to extend help and sympathy to others in their hour of need or sorrow. The deceased also did his duty in the country in that he reared a large family, eleven of whom, with his widow, are left to mourn their irreparable loss. The surviving sons of deceased are Henry, John, Michael, and Francis of Laggan, and Joseph and William, of Cobar. The daughters are Mrs. M. H. McCormack, (Laggan), Mrs. H. Unwin (Yerranderrie), Mrs. H. Hawkins (Sydney) Mary, (Laggan) and Agnes (New Zealand). Correspondent.

HENRY JOSEPH WOODS:
Obituary

The death occurred on August 29th of Mr. Henry Joseph Woods, of "Rockview" Laggan, in his 77th year. Born at Collector he followed, in his early life, the calling of a shearer and contractor. After his marriage with Miss Bridget Broderick he settled on a small area of virgin country, now known as "Rockview" Laggan, which he eventually transformed and on which he built a commodious home, which became famed far and wide for its hospitality.

Industrious and keen in matters pastoral and agricultural it was not long before he had acquired broad acres.

The late Mr. Woods was a man of sterling character, true to his friends, straight forward in word and in deed and always appreciative of small courtesies and kindnesses.

As a result of an accident which occurred 25 1/2 years ago he was confined to his bed for a quarter of a century and the injuries he received so long ago were a contributing factor to his ultimate demise. His affliction he bore with patience and Christian fortitude right to the end.

During the early years of his incapacity he was tended by a loving wife and family, who spared no effort to afford him ease and comfort, and for the past fourteen years, his daughter in law, Mrs. Jim Woods, had tended him with loving care.

During his illness he was constantly visited by Rev Fr McKenna and after his death his remains were removed to St. Andrew's Church, Laggan, where Mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul by Rev. Fr McKenna in the presence of a large assembly.

The remains were reposed in the church until 2.30 pm the following day, when they were laid to rest beside those of his wife, who predeceased him by eighteen months. Rev. Fr McKenna officiated at the graveside.

He is survived by one daughter – Mrs. S Lyons of Moree - and three sons - Harold, Henry and Jim (all of Laggan).

Amongst the floral tributes were noted those from the following: - Harold, Mary and family; Harrie, Essie and family; Tot, Stan, Daph, and Gordon; Jim, Gertie and girls; Una and Bill; Mr. and Mrs. S A Cullen; Moutrey and Pat; Mrs. Campbell, girls and Garnet; Mr. and Mrs. E G Lamb; Mrs. T Wilkinson; Alan, Alma and Family.

The funeral arrangements were in the hands of Mr. T. E. Kennedy of Crookwell.

WILLIAM GEORGE WOODS:

I was born on 6th November 1917 at Cobar in western New South Wales, the only son and youngest of a family of three children of William George (Bill) and Amelia (Millie) Woods (nee Eves). My two elder sisters were Irene Agnes, born 9th July, 1911 and Gladys May born 11th January 1915. My father was the youngest son and second youngest of the family of John and Hannah Woods (nee Withers) of Laggan NSW had come to Cobar as a young man in the early 1900's to work with the elder brother Joseph in the copper mines

My mother was the youngest daughter and second oldest of a family of five children of James and Sarah Eves (nee Bennett) of Cobar. My parents were married at Cobar on 30th November 1910 my father being aged 27 and my mother about 22. According to my elder sister Rene our father was not a tall man but nuggetty with dark hair while our mother was slight build with fair complexion. The only photograph I saw of her was their wedding photo which I always assumed was in Rene's possession but apparently it has disappeared. It would seem that my father had shown promise in his occupation as he was made a shift boss in the mines and had commenced study towards gaining mining engineers qualifications Unfortunately he became the victim of the lung problems common to miners and in 1917 contracted pneumonia and died on the 7th September two months before I was born He is buried in a single grave in the Roman Catholic portion of the Cobar Cemetery

Our mother left with three young children to care for showed her independence and resourcefulness by taking in seamstress work although I'm sure she was helped as much as possible by other members of her family Some two years later she too became ill apparently with appendicitis the symptoms were not diagnosed properly peritonitis set in and without the benefit of our modern drugs she died on 8th January 1920 She is buried in a common with her mother in a different portion of the Cobar Cemetery because of religious problems my father being Roman Catholic family she of Anglican one Sad to think that religious prejudices can separate husband and wife after death

Similar religious differences caused problems in relation to the future of we three children according to the few scant pieces of information that I was able to gather in later life Of course I was far too young to be aware of the deliberations at the time It would appear that the Eves family wished to look after the two girls whilst I was to be reared by an aunt on my fathers side Thus I understand Rene remained with our grandmother in Cobar Gladys went to live with our mothers elder sister May (Mrs. Arthur Henderson) in Sydney and I to my Aunt Jane (Mt Harry Hawkins) in Bowral How long this arrangement continued I don't know but I have the impression that we spent some months under these conditions

Meanwhile another of our fathers elder brothers Francis George (Frank) Woods had apparently played a prominent part on behalf of the Woods family in the arrangements after our fathers death and an even more important role in the final decision as to the future of we three children after our mother died He had obviously come to Cobar after each of these events and had made the acquaintance of a maid at the Great Western Hotel Catherine (Kate) Rheinburger Sometime in 1920 they were married and we three children were brought to live with Frank and Kate Woods at Laggan in a house adjacent to the original Woods home where our grandfather Hannah Woods and another son our uncle John lived Our grandfather John Woods (Senior) had died in 1911. It was here at "Roseville" Laggan, that I spent the years from then until the early 1930's. It was also obvious that the whole business had caused bad blood between the woods and the Eves families which was made quite plain to me years later when I was living in Sydney and regularly visited my aunt May mothers sister who lived at McMahon's Point She was very caustic about the insistence of the Woods family that we be brought up by the side of the family

I knew of no communication between the families except for one occasion when our Grandmother Sarah Eves insisted on seeing us and we were taken to Sydney to meet her I have only the faintest recollection of that meeting which took place at Auntie May's place I met no other members of my mother family until many years later.

Laggan in the 1920's, as I remember it, was a small village six miles from Crookwell, at the junction several roads leading to Crookwell, Goulburn, Bathurst, Binda and Taralga. Approaching from the Crookwell side, there were the school and residence of the teacher Patrick Cummings and family, the homes of John and Mary McCormack, Gus Berrell and family and the Presbyterian Church. On the McAlister (Goulburn Road) side were the Anglican Church and the home of Alex Baker and family. At the cross roads were Billy Carter's home and the dairy buildings on the corner, and the home of the Hood, later the Wilson family, a former shop of the village, on the remaining corner.

We lived alongside the old Woods home further on was the Drew home later occupied by Les (Frosty) Carolan and on the corner of the mill-lane was a shop and residence built during the mid-20's by Charlie Miller. Opposite there was a butcher's shop conducted for a number of years by Wes Marmont and alongside it was the original Laggan store conducted by Harry Marmont and later by Walter Drew. On the corner of the Binda Road was the Roman Catholic Church built during the mid 20's and on the opposite corner were two cottages one of which was occupied by Jim Anderson and family. On the same side were two large corrugated iron sheds one the Blacksmith and Wheelwrights shops where an old bachelor John Lane lived. He owned quite a deal of real estate in and around the village and was reputed to be very wealthy. Opposite was the Laggan Hotel run by Jim Fahey and family.

At the northern or Bathurst road end of the village were a cottage occupied by the Collins family a large old shop and residence of the Miller family in which the Post Office was situated and opposite that the Laggan Hall. A lane ran from the centre of the village to the fire gutted remains of the former Laggan Mill on the bank of Reedy Creek. The residential section still remained and was the home of Gil Baker and family his brother George and sister in law Ciss Drew.

Outside the village proper on the McAlister road were the properties of Walter and Stan Cullen one on each side. Along the Binda road lived Jack Drew and the Toole family. A mile or so along the Bathurst road were the original Roman Catholic Church and cemetery and the home of the Lavery family which had once been the "Shamrock" hotel.

The hall provided a public meeting place the venue for card parties dances the annual balls for the Roman Catholic and Anglican Churches and the Hall; Committee and the occasional travelling picture show. There were tennis courts behind the Laggan Store a rugby league football field near the school and a cricket ground some distance from the village along the Binda road. There were a couple of good swimming holes in the creek in Carters dairy paddock which were popular meeting places for the village kids.

The home of Frank and Kate Woods had obviously been built in different stages. The main bedroom and sitting room were of brick the second bedroom (later converted to a small shop) and the dining room were of fibro and a back veranda was extended and closed in with weatherboard to provide a bedroom for the girls one for me and a kitchen. There was no laundry clothes were washed in large tubs and boiled in a copper which stood outside. Baths were taken in the same big tubs with water heated in kerosene tins over the open fire. There being no electricity heating and cooking were done in the stove or open fire and of course there were no such things as wireless T V refrigerator washing machine or phone. Meat was kept fresh in perforated safe hung in a breeze way or under a tree. A cool safe which depended on the evaporation of seeping water kept milk cool and butter reasonably solid. Light was supplied by kerosene lamps or candles.

Tanks supplied our water and toilets were of the back yard. Dunny tyres either a can (Thunder Box) or pit (Long Drop). We had plenty of fresh vegetables and fruit meat (mostly mutton) home made jams and pickles butter was usually home made scones cakes and puddings and on special occasions roast poultry pork or ham in a word food was plentiful but plain but obviously in this regard we were luckier than many other families during the depression years of the 1920's.

Grandmother Woods home was a five roomed stone building with front veranda an enclosed back veranda or lobby and a huge slab walled semi detached kitchen with an earthen floor a large open fire place and stove. The inside of this kitchen was papered over with newspapers and it was an annual job to renew this lining in preparation for Christmas. As the two places were so close together the families worked more or less in communal fashion sharing the fruit (plums grapes apples gooseberries etc.) various vegetables particularly potatoes turnips pumpkins melons and so on grown on one or other portions of land. Our means of transport was by horse and one of the several sulkeys (there was a buggy which I never saw used) a dray for cartage and each brother had a horse used for transport ploughing etc which were grazed in one paddock behind the homes There were also fowls and at an early stage a cow supplied our milk but later it was bought from the Carter dairy.

Though not very communicative to one another the two brothers Frank and John worked fairly well together helping one another with the various activities connected with the digging ploughing sowing and harvesting of the different material From time to time they had the use (under what conditions I don't know) of other paddock in and around the village for grazing the animals or growing of crops Frank did various jobs around the area he worked from time to time on the roads he dug potatoes and helps with harvesting hay-making etc for other farmers he chopped and carted wood for sale in the village and at one stage carried the Taralga mail I don't remember John in any particular job though probably he too worked around the area. Mainly I remember him as a dealer in rabbit skins sheep skins selling some produce etc Neither ever received the old age pension while they lived in Laggan apparently regarding it as beneath their dignity to do so When my grandmother died in the mid 20's John more or less lived with us using his own place to sleep Also the slab kitchen then became available as a laundry and bathroom for the two families

Being the only "parents" that I ever knew I always spoke of Frank and Kate as Dad and Mum although from as early as I can remember I was told that my real parents were dead. On the wall of the sitting room there were three large framed portraits of my grandmother my grandfather and my father There were never any of my mother or her family although as I have mentioned earlier a wedding photograph did exist of my parents which I saw much later in life and which I presumed passed into Rene's possession The portrait of my father had been produced from that wedding photo but the same had not been done for our mother I wonder why not I was never given any information about her and I suppose like any other young person I accepted the status-Quo without question until in later life I became curious about my life before coming to Laggan. Rene and Gladys always referred to our foster parent's as Uncle Frank and Auntie Kit while I apparently didn't think much about the reason for such differences.

Similarly there was no question in my mind about attending church at the old Roman Catholic Church below Laggan. It wasn't until much later that I was told (by Kate I think) that at the beginning Rene had been given the choice of deciding whether we should attend the Anglican or roman Catholic Church as she was presumably old enough to make the decision. As I understand her reply was in these lines, "we will go with you, Auntie Kit", and I suppose one could imagine that to be the natural reaction of a child of nine years of age. I don't know what subsequently happened in the case of my sisters but I have a fairly clear recollection of going through a christening ceremony in the old Roman Catholic Church performed by Father Ryan an elderly priest who used to travel from Crookwell to conduct Mass. I can also remember much more vividly having to learn the Catechism that obviously being considered as important or more so as other aspects of my education. Like any kid I suppose I resented being hauled inside from an interesting game with my mates to swat up the Catechism in preparation for Conformation which if I remember correctly was conducted by the Bishop in Crookwell.

Meanwhile Rene and Gladys had left home to be educated at what was always referred to as a Goulburn Convent while I began my education at Laggan Public School under the tutelage of P. F. Cummings Teacher-in-Charge

The significance of the periodic visits of a gentleman (a Mr. Peak as I recall) to the house and his conversations with me about my general well-being only became apparent to me much later when I realise that we were state wards and it was his task to assess the satisfactory condition or otherwise of such children. Similarly I eventually realised that the two girls were in fact being cared for in an Orphanage St Joseph's at Kenmore but it was never referred to in those terms.

I attended school at Laggan from about 1924 I think until the end of 1930 having spent two years in sixth class being too young to leave school and there being no High School nearer than Goulburn for me to continue my education I must give full credit to my foster mother (Kate) for having prepared me for schooling by teaching me the alphabet the rudiments of reading multiplication tables etc All of these may not conform with modern ideas of education for young people but which I consider gave me a good grounding and as I recall a step ahead of other beginners

Much of the learning of that class was by "rote" and I well remember being "coached" (I suppose one would say) by some of the older pupils in reading the primers supplied to schools at that time and reciting tables etc in the cloakroom outside the main classroom I don't think such methods did me much harm as I don't remember finding school tasks too difficult I seemed to move through the various classes without any great hassle. Mostly out work was done learning from sheets, books etc rather than by active demonstration or teaching as such.

Mr. Cummings (he was universally known by the pupils as "Paddy" when out of his hearing) spent a good deal of his time sitting at his table smoking a bent cherry-wood pipe and reading the local newspaper while we worked on our various assignments Who knows but maybe such methods inculcated a habit of study of one finding out or working out information for oneself rather than depending on the teacher for passing on the material

I don't know exactly how Mr. Cummings became a teacher, though I did hear of his originally a clerk at the Laggan Mills and having passed certain examinations (after several unsuccessful attempts I understand) which led I presume to some type of training course which led I presume to some type of training course. What I do recall vividly was the difference in the methods employed by a younger relief teacher a Mr. Ford who was in charge of the school for some months when Mr. Cummings took long service (or sick) leave which he and his family spent at Gerringong on the South Coast I know we all appreciated Mr. Fords approach to much of the work through drama song illustrations etc but whether we absorbed information more effectively I cannot say. Anyway I've always been able to study without too much trouble.

One afternoon a week was devoted to sewing instructions for the girls conducted by Mrs. Cummings while the boys did manual work of some description In most cases this consisted of wood other times cardboard modeling and occasionally work in the school garden There were tools at the school and a woodwork bench with two vices in the weatherboard shed where we worked and the timber had mainly to be supplied by the pupils kerosene or petrol cases being the most suitable source I always enjoyed such work I seemed to have a natural bent in that direction and the interest carried over into constructing stools shelves cupboards etc for the home and things like wheelbarrows Billy carts and so on This interest has remained with me right through my life and I still enjoy the same satisfaction of building something setting up displays etc.

Though corporal punishment was administered from time to time I don't remember being caned very often I usually tried to avoid trouble at school because it meant more severe punishment when the news reached my foster father as it invariably did. He never had any compunction about dishing out a solid thrashing with the razor strap for any misdemeanors real or suspected.

Fellow pupils whom I remember at the school at different times (some older some younger than myself) were the Cummins boys Jim and Pat (the elder ones Margaret Alan Eileen had left) Gil Baker's family Brenda Bert Reg and Nita their cousins Alex Baker's family Greg and Molly Walter Cullen's Ned and Nina Stan Cullen's Pat (whom I don't really remember at school though he was there in Rene's time) Gus Barrels "Mena" and Pat. John McCormack wards Charlie Frank and Eileen Clifford Andy Toole' "Mac" Fred Mollie and Phyllis "Min" Collins and later George and Ken Anderson and Jackie Wilson there were probably others whom I cannot recall and of course my sisters Rene and Gladys's attended there for a period We played cricket on a disused tennis court behind the school also hockey and football "rounders" marbles hide and seek etc I don't remember any sports equipment being supplied by the school we made do with whatever we could scourge ourselves My best mate during school days (and in later life too) was Bert Baker which is rather ironic as his family was not very popular with Frank Woods for reasons which I'll suggest later.

Being the only child at home I led a pretty lonely existence outside of school time as I wasn't given a free rein to go to other places to play and there wasn't any encouragement for others to come to our place for some reason which always seemed too restrictive to me. Thus I spent a lot of time reading mainly books which I could borrow One source of such reading I remember well was the weekly supply of comics which was bought for me. I forget the titles but they contained not only the cartoon type of comic but stories and serials usually of the adventure type cowboys exploration car racing animal stories tales about football and cricket teams etc the "Boys" Own type of thing Actually I realise they were bought as much for Frank's amusement as mine as his eyesight was severely curtailed with only partial sight in one eye and he could read only the large print of headlines So one of my tasks was to read to him from these comics and any books I could scourge from the neighbours This again was ironic because my usual source of such books was the Baker family and in order to obtain one I had the excuse of visiting Bert's place and extending the time with him as much as I dared.

I have the utmost admiration for Kate Woods for the way she managed the household with obviously very little income. I understand that guardians of State Wards received a certain allowance how much in our case I do not know but I have vivid recollections of her making over clothes for me from articles sent particularly by Auntie Jane Hawkins when they became too small for her son. Kate was a marvelous needle woman and she cut and made most of the clothes for us children and for herself. She was also a wonderful cook able to dish up a meal out of the skimpiest of ingredients made jams pickles chutneys preserved fruit vegetables etc made most of our own butter besides washing ironing cleaning and pressing suits trousers shirts and so on. The home was always kept spotlessly clean and she was no mean hand with a hammer saw and other tools.

Unfortunately to my mind she received very little appreciation from Frank for her efforts for he was in my opinion a most impatient unreasonable person prone to fits of violent temper. He never physically ill-treated her but he often verbally abused her if things were not to his satisfaction, like food being too hot for his liking (I haven't a fire gob was his usual expression) or the darns in his socks hurt his feet or when she made mistakes when learning to drive the car they later acquired or other petty sorts of criticism I never remember him helping out in any way in the house she always seemed to be the one to get up light the fire and have a meal reedy wash up afterwards and do the housework even though most of the time he didn't really have anything else to do but he was no different to most other men in that era in this respect

One episode which was rather typical of his attitude occurred when Rene and Frank Hewitt prior to their marriage took Kate to Goulburn I think and maybe Frank took Rene to Bowral where she was working (I forget the exact details) However Kate didn't arrive back to Laggan as early as Frank Woods expected (maybe his meal wasn't on the table for him) so there was a blazing row with him accusing Frank Hewitt of Gallivanting around the countryside till all hours with his wife or words to that effect. Can anyone imagine a more ridiculous statement Maybe I am not doing the man justice by some of my comments for he did take on the responsibility of us three kids. His poor eyesight caused him much frustration and of course in common with many families in those depression years it wasn't easy to make ends meet. Still I always got the impression that his main concern to be the Kudos he felt he should receive for what he had done

I think he really looked upon me as his own son I was always known as Sonny to him or Boy when not in favour Kate always called me Billie till the day she died a name which grew more irksome the older I got. I remember being acutely embarrassed when he ostentatiously patted me on the head when I passed the High School Entrance and Bursary Examination at the end of my Primary Schooling how well I could handle the car and so on

Sometime in the late 20's he bought a second hand car from my uncle Harry Hawkins in Bowral a Dodge about a 1923 model. I don't know how he managed to obtain a drivers license considering his very poor eyesight but he seemed to manage the car quite well. In a short time he has me steering the car, then working the clutch and gears while he sat in the driver's seat and of course he was always keen to let people know how quickly I had become proficient in maneuvering the car. On one occasion we drove down to a place near Golspie turn off owned by a Mr. Cooper where he had a horse on agistment. He caught the horse put on its bridle and told me to drive the car ahead while he would follow leading the horse What he didn't make clear to me so I thought was how far he wanted me to go so I just kept driving until I reached home drove in the gate and parked the car in the garage. He eventually arrived home fuming because he had to partly walk partly ride (bare back of course) and I got a tongue lashing for daring to drive the car for that distance by myself which appeared to me to be quite unjust as I had been doing exactly that for quite a while but of course with him a licensed driver with me I never did find out how he reckoned on getting the horse and the car home apart from one of us driving the car and the other leading the horse Strangely enough despite his strong disapproval he often related the incident later to other people obviously deriving a deal of pleasure from the fact that I could handle the car quite competently at that age probably I was about twelve at the time.

Because he knew that he was really endangering both his own life and others by driving with such poor eyesight and also he had been warned by the Police Sergeant in Crookwell for allowing me to steer the car when someone reported him for doing so Frank persuaded Kate to learn to drive Unfortunately he elected to teach her rather than getting some outsider to do so and he would badger her so much about doing this or not doing that she would become so upset that she made all sorts of mistakes which would cause him to lose his temper and she would finish the driving lesson a nervous wreck vowing never to try again Of course her age and never having had anything to do with cars previously didn't help but eventually she became proficient enough to obtain a license when Frank wasn't present she always seemed to handle the car much more confidently obviously feeling much more relaxed when he wasn't nagging her!!! Even so, for a good while she continued to drive the car in second gear. I well remember it was while returning from a visit to Mick Woods place at Cotta Walla, that on a back road she was persuaded to change into top gear for the first time and I am sure that event caused great relief all round.

Just why she consented to this no one will ever know but I have suspicion that Frank used the whole tragic business to persuade her to marry for obviously he would never have been given the custody of us children if her had not been able to show that he could provide a stable environment in which we would be reared Also from a few snippets of information I picked up through the years I believe he had endeavoured to persuade some one in the local community to take that responsibility on. I rather suspect that someone was Ciss Drew and that the later ill-feeling between him and /drew/Baker family stemmed from her refusal He was always critical of nay member of that family and the feeling was reciprocated on their side not in my hearing I must add but it came through in remarks made by Bert Baker which obviously he had picked up at home

Bert often referred to Frank as Fritz (which in itself rather suggests a fiery sort of nature) and made some remarks about some of his actions which apparently were the object of derision by the Baker family. I recall a public row which took place in the middle of the village one day between Frank Woods and Walter Drew for whatever cause I don't know but it appeared at one stage likely to come to blows which fortunately it didn't Strangely enough there was no such enmity between Johnny Woods and the Baker/Drew family He loved a game of cards and he quite regularly visited their place to play and he borrowed books from them too.

In order to reach a reasonably accurate assessment of the questions I have raised in these paragraphs one would need to know that date of Franks and Kate's marriage and the exact time we were brought to live in Laggan in comparison with our mother's death in January, 1920 These facts I do not know so I am in no position to make judgments about the whole business

During the late 1920's Kate had the front room of the house converted into a small general store selling grocery items bread tobacco cigarettes sweets biscuits some types of vegetables like potatoes turnips etc kerosene and petrol At that time there were no petrol bowers (pumps) in the smaller places like Laggan and so petrol could be bought by the case each containing two four gallon tins and there was a limit of two such cases that could be stored unless it was housed in a separate fire proof building To circumvent this regulation some was kept in our shed and another lot in Johns shed for sale to our customers Kate had previously experience in such a business as she and her sister Agnes had conducted a corner shop in Pymont for some years

The stock for the Laggan shop was bought through the wholesale business of Wrights Heaton and Co in Goulburn and their representatives a Mr. Fitzpatrick paid periodic visits to take the order Usually the goods were railed from Goulburn to McAlister Station and we would collect them there Occasionally there was a business trip to Goulburn but as the road was at that tome pretty rough gravel and we travelled at a very sedate pace such a trip there and back was an all day affair

About the same period Harry Marmont who conducted the Laggan store was killed in a car accident while delivering orders out Redbank way on a deviation on the Taralga road during a heavy fall of snow this unfortunate occurrence presented a golden opportunity for Kate to expand her business put in expansion apparently fearing it entailed outlay of capital for which they would have to borrow money He had a deep mistrust of banks even to the extent of keeping his money in the house in tobacco tins which he secreted in the inside of the piano in the sitting room He insisted that the business be ruin on a cash basis the goods bought for cash and nothing sold on credit Obviously this curtailed any expansion of the business and it continued as a hand to mouth affair Later of course Walter Drew took on the Laggan Store and Charlie Miller built a store residence put in petrol pumps etc thus siphoning off the business which could have captured by Kate of her husband had been a little more far sighted and cooperative.

Apart from the trips to and from McAlister and Crookwell the car was used very little and these short trips meant very little opportunity to keep the battery replenished Thus it was a common occurrence that the battery would be weak and the engine had to be started by cranking and particularly in the cold weather it was often difficult to start Puncture were also common as the roads were metal and pretty rough too The split rims to which the tyres were fitted were difficult to remove and replace by hand all of which wasn't conducive to Franks good humour.

I remember Grandmother Woods fairly well as quite a tall lady but rather stooped dressed in ankle length clothes and seemingly always wearing a bonnet She didn't leave the house much except to go out and feed the chooks gather the eggs or get something from the vegetable garden owing to a nasty ulcer on her leg which restricted her movements I don't ever remember her going to church but the Priest visited the home from time to time to administer Communion I expect I recall on incidence in particular when I overheard Franks remark to his mother when she was trying to lift a kerosene tin of water off the open fire Stand aside woman I'll do that I said something similar some days later when she was doing some other chore and I was well and truly put in my place as a result a reprimand which I thoroughly deserved

In 1925 my grandmother was hospitalized (I don't know the actual cause) and she died on 8th December 1925 aged 82 Most of the family gathered at Laggan having been summoned beforehand and I well remember the comings and goings from Laggan to Crookwell several times in hire cars from out of the morgue an experience which I felt an eight year old child well have done without Hannah is buried in a common grave with her husband John in the Laggan Cemetery Her eldest son Henry and members of his family are buried there too

A few isolated incidents from my childhood days in Laggan follow: they are in no particular order just jotted down as they come to mind

My two uncles Frank and John both smoked pipes and like most kids I suppose I had a couple of goes at one of Franks I don't remember being sick but I know I didn't try the pipe again but I did pinch some of his tobacco from time to time and rolled a cigarette Bert Baker and I would get up into the hayloft over the chaff shed in John's place and have a smoke I often have thought since how lucky we were not to have set the whole stable sulky sheds etc light Eventually we acquired by fair means of foul (and I am pretty certain it was the latter) a tin of 333 State Express ready rubbed tobacco and the clandestine smoking session became fairly regular

On one occasion Frank and Kate had a quarrel about something or other and he became so abusive that she packed a small suitcase and walked out saying that she was going to leave him When nightfall came she hadn't returned so he had tea and sent to bed Next morning Kate was still absent so Frank went over to the old home but there was no sign of her Obviously now convinced that she had indeed gone for good he got me to accompany him to McAlister Railway Station as he apparently considered she would go there and catch the train to Goulburn then on to her people in Bega We walked the three miles there but seeing no sign of Kate we returned home Sometime that day maybe by the time we got back (I can't remember exactly when) there was Kate in the kitchen going about her normal routine of preparing our next meal As far as I can remember nothing was said between the two of them things just went on as though nothing had happened Much later I learned that she had spent the night in the car in the garage and knew that he was searching for her but left him to sweat it out for awhile. Often in later years she had a quiet giggle about that episode too us children but whether the experience modified Franks behaviour towards her or not I don't know I certainly doubt that it made much difference Was his obvious concern about her disappearance prompted by affection for her or because he feared the blow to his dignity in the eyes of the village if she had left him

I was never given any sex education in those years by my foster parents such matters were taboo in that household even to the extent of any pregnancy in the district being discussed in hushed tones between Kate and her friends in those terms So and so is in a certain condition I don't ever remember questioning in my mind what such a mysterious malady might have been Of course I knew by experience how cats ewes and other animals gave birth to their young so that aspect of the biological process was of no mystery to me Then too as all kids do playground discussions often centered around this intriguing business and some of the older more enlightened ones would give their versions of the procedure leading up to the conception and growth of a child in the mothers body and its eventual entry in to the world. Unfortunately much of this information was somewhat wide of the mark really and imparted a very down to earth type of language to say the least and discussed in such conditions that would suggest that it was all very sinful.

No wonder I never dreamed of broaching the subject to my foster parents and any way I could never have imagined them indulging in such untoward behaviour So I was left rather bemused by it all until one day among the books I kept on shelves in my room I came across a small pamphlet setting out in simple language with illustrations the male and female reproductive organs and their roles in the procreation process Even then I wasn't too sure whether I was doing the right thing by perusing it but now realize the booklet had been put there for my benefit Who was responsible I've never found out was it Frank or Kate or my elder sisters who at that stage would have been much more worldly wise as to the facts of life than I was.

My fathers brother Henry Woods the eldest of the family had property at Redbank a few miles from Laggan on the Taralga road At some earlier time there had been a misunderstanding between Frank and Henry about which I knew very little For years there had been no communication between the two families but there had been some mention of a rather insulting letter tossed onto the veranda of out house inn Laggan reportedly by Henry's daughter Mrs. Sisk (Tot was the only name I knew her by) who with her son Gordon lived with Henry and Bridget her parents I got the impression (rightly or wrongly) that the problem between the two families had something to do with the fact that Tot was either living apart from her husband or had been divorces

Be that as it may when we were carrying the Taralga mail we of course had to deliver mail bread etc to Henry's road side box He had for many years been more or less confined to bed as a result of a spinal injury I understand received from a fall from a horse One day Frank suggested that we go up to the house to see Henry how or why he made that decision I don't know. Anyway we were met by Aunt Bridget taken into Henrys room where the two brothers shook hands with no reference as far as I remember to the problem which had existed for years between them. Henry was sitting up in bed and he proceeded (as he always did with visitors I later learnt) to show how he could stand up which he obviously managed by bracing the back of his legs against the side of the bed and how he could move about by holding onto bars which had been fitted around the wall He maintained this showed how improved his condition was but it was quite evident the man needed support to stand and shuffle along sideways as he did He was a big man red haired and florid of face with booming voice all of which left me in great awe I could imagine how difficult a person he must have been invalid for so many years and having to be waited on hand and foot for that period We visited him occasionally from then on but of course he never did improve and he died in august 1944 aged 74 He and his wife and other members of his family are buried in Laggan Cemetery.

I have so far written very little about my two sisters mainly because for most of the time I lived at Laggan they were at Kenmore How often they came home from there I cant say my impression is that it was more or less a permanent place of residence for them until they reached the requisite age to be out of the care of the state I know that they were both living at Laggan during my last few years there for they both attended school there for some time Rene eventually obtained a position as a domestic help with a family in Crookwell named Parker I think and later went to work for Mr. and Mrs. Ted Abbey of Wheeo.

Gladys meantime finished her schooling and stayed on at home so that it was in this period that she and I got to know each other far more than we ever had the opportunity previously She was always the rebel of the family and as I remember it seemed to go out of her way to incur the wrath of Frank and receiving periodic beatings for doing so I think that she was old enough to remember and feel the loss of our own parents particularly our mother and in some way considered the fate had given her a pretty rough deal

As I have said previously I'm sure our mother have been in very straightened circumstances after our fathers death as he probably left very little in the way of capital for her Gladys however somehow got the idea in her head that there must have been funds left for us children and she often broached the subject with our foster parents leading to bitter recriminations on both sides Frank always pointing out that any small amount from our parents estate had been well and truly swallowed up in our maintenance Again as she got older Gladys openly rebelled against the restraint placed on her social activities and this too was a frequent source of friction

Rene of course was of a different nature and apparently had accepted the situation with far better grace probably being more appreciative of the efforts of our foster parents Kate with whom Rene got along with very amicably As for me as I have pointed pot previously I had grown up inn the household and really looked upon Frank and Kate more as parents than as guardians. I met most of my aunt's uncles and cousins on my father's side while I lived at Laggan when they made fairly rare visits to see their mother Hannah Woods.

Susannah (Mr. Mick McCormack) lived at The Diamond along the Redground Binda road but later the family moved to Goulburn where I visited them many times later Michael (Mick) woods lived on a property at Cotta Walla and visits were exchanged occasionally Joe Woods had lived at Cobar and had been the best man at our parents wedding He moved to Cullen Bullen where he worked in the coal miners and he and his wife would come to Laggan from time to time usually at Christmas He loved a beer and it was he who gave me the first taste of one Frank who was a teetotaler would have been scandalised if he had known Also I remember Joe's car a silver Anniversary Buick which was the most luxurious vehicle I had seen until then having been used to the "T" model and "A" model Fords plus the odd Chev Dodge etc around Laggan.

My other aunts Kate (Mrs. Unwin) Jane (Mrs. Hawkins) Mary (Mrs. Goff) and Tot (Mrs. Cox) also visited Laggan from time to time Apart from the occasion I have related earlier when we were taken to Sydney to meet my maternal grandmother Sarah Eves and my mothers sister May (Mrs. Henderson) I didn't have any communication with the members of the Eves family while I lived in Laggan

Maybe now in passing I can mention my recollections of a few other people who lived in or around the village in those years e.g. Lila Slocombe the Post Mistress (who seemed to know and relayed everyone's business) Bill McIntyre (a recluse who lived in a tent on the Taralga road who had periodic binges at the Laggan Pub and wrote poems and items for the local papers under the name "Blackboy") Billy mills from Peelwood (drove bullock teams bringing wool to Crookwell about whom many humorous anecdotes were circulated) Blue Heaven (the driver of Wakely's baker van because he was invariably whistling the tune of that popular song) Ernie Tumbers (brought the mail from McAlister Station to Laggan by horse and sulky – born without legs but was able to move about get in and out of the sulky quite effectively) Taffy Vaughan (a young Welsh lad who worked on Carters dairy farm and visited our place often obviously because of a romantic interest in my sister Gladys). Chum Churchill who also worked there years later I met and married her niece Valerie Wood a coincidence indeed.

Now a brief reference to some other experiences I recall during my sojourn in Laggan e.g. learning to swim and dive with the other lads in the swimming hole in the creek in Billy Carters paddock just failing to win the high jump event at the combined schools sports a most disappointing blow to me being taken by Frank to witness the rather primitive method of slaughtering a beast at Marmont's on the cream run to and from Redground and The Diamond visits to Pat Carolan's place at Red Hill at hay marketing time helping with carting and stacking the hay and the fascination I had with the traction engine and the threshing machinery on its periodic visits being saved by John McCormack white lie from an almost certain belting when I overstayed my time to play cricket with the other lads instead of taking Franks razor back immediately after it was honed or stopped scalding my leg while camping out with Frank when he was doing some council work on the Golspie road and saying nothing about it until Kate saw it when we got home by which time the burn was badly infected being persuaded by Min Collins to walk home with her from Redhill hall (where I had been playing in a school hockey team) instead of returning by car with her boyfriend Jim woods (which we were suppose to do) because of a quarrel between the two and copping a tongue lashing from Frank as a result Dolly our sulky horse going lame on the way to one Crookwell Show causing us to return home much to our bitter disappointment and Kate maintaining it was the Almighty's way of letting her know of some problem which has occurred at her home in Bega.

Having read back over and considered what I have written so far I want to emphasize that I do not wish to give the impression that I had an unhappy childhood Not having known my real parents I grew accepting conditions as they were without question I probably felt that I was somewhat unduly restricted in my contacts with the other kids of the village but them discipline in those days was far different to that of the present "Little boys are seen not heard was pretty much the rule in most families.

As a result my life outside of school hours was rather solitary and lonely so I spent much of my spare time reading pottering around with hammer nails and odd scraps of timber building make believe boats cars etc and cutting up piles and piles of wood for the fireplace and stove I certainly can recall coping a few beltings but I'm quite sure I fully deserved any that I received and there is no suggestion that I was physically abused I always had plenty to eat vegetable fruit etc Well and warmly clad even if often I was wearing made over garments never had to go without shoes so generally considering the difficult economic climate of that time I probably enjoyed much better conditions than many other children of that period.

I now come to that part of my life where I gradually moved more and more out of the control of my foster parents but certainly not out of their influence.

The first stage of this change was when I entered secondary school as a boarder at St Patrick's college in Goulburn As I have already stated I had passed the High School Entrance Examination at the end of 1929 but there being no nearby High School I repeated sixth class and was fortunate enough to be granted a state bursary at the end of 1930 Obviously the amount provided by this bursary would not have been sufficient to cover the fees for board, tuition, books and other materials. Since being a State Ward, the extra finance where provided by the state.

We leave William there as he passes through his further education and eventually becomes a school teacher and principle.

Obituary
Mrs. Harold Woods

Particularly pathetic are the circumstances surrounding the lamentable death of Mrs. Harold Woods, late of "Rockview", Laggan, which sad event occurred at her residence on Friday night last, 12th inst.

By her demise a husband and young family are deprived of the loving care of a fond wife and devoted mother.

The late Mrs. Woods who was only 31 years of age, was the daughter of Mrs. Norah Cummins, her father having died prior to her birth.

By a strange coincidence he also passed away at the age of 31 years, on a Friday, and was buried on a Sunday.

No name, says our Laggan correspondent, was better known or more highly respected in the Laggan, Taralga and Golspie districts than the deceased's. Although burdened with the care of a very young family on whom she lavished a mother's care and consideration, her cheery disposition endeared her to all her friends - and they were legion.

News of her death cast a gloom over the whole countryside. As the late Mrs. Woods was born and lived all her life in the district where she died, the whole district mourns her passing, and will join us in expressing heartfelt sympathy with the bereaved husband and family and her mother.

Besides the husband a young family of six boys and one girl survives, the eldest of whom is twelve and the youngest one an infant of only a few weeks.

Whilst no doubt there will be many willing to undertake the responsibilities of tending the young family the untimely death of Mrs. Harold Woods creates an irreparable loss. Nobody can adequately fill a mother's place.

The remains were interred in the Laggan Catholic Cemetery on Sunday afternoon last, and the cortege was one of the largest ever witness in the district, bearing eloquent testimony to the respect and esteem in which she and her family are held.

The Rev. Father Keating conducted the service at the graveside.

Members of the AHC Guild, in regalia, formed a guard of honour at the burial ground.

Amongst the beautiful floral tributes that covered the casket the following were noted: Mr. and Mrs. T J Slater, Jnr; Harry, Essie, and Flora; Mr. and Mrs. H J Woods and family; Will and Maria; Mr. and Mrs. Stan Lyons; G F and M. A. Campbell; Mrs. Naughton and Jim; Florence Glanville; Mrs. Writer.

The mortuary arrangements were carried out by Mr. Kennedy (Crookwell) and Mr. Fitzgibbon (Taralga).

Obituary

James Ambrose Woods

The death occurred suddenly at his home, Bathurst Road, Laggan, on February 2, of Mr. James Ambrose Woods who was born in Crookwell 68 years ago.

His passing was unexpected, although just recently he had not enjoyed good health. The late Mr. Woods was well known in the Laggan, Crookwell district and was held in high esteem by many.

He carried out grazing pursuits and at home was a devoted family man. A keen sportsman Mr. Woods followed football and cricket with great interest.

He was the son of the late Henry and Bridgette Woods and was one of a family of four children. His sister, Mrs. Stan Lyons of Yass and a brother Harry of Taralga Road, Laggan, survive. Another brother, Harold, predeceased him. In April 1930 he and Miss Gertrude Fahey were married in St Mary's Church, Crookwell, and they were blessed with six daughters. One daughter, Fay Mary, passed away in 1966, and he is survived by his wife and daughters Mayzie, Gwen, Robyn of Laggan, Mildred (Mrs. Des Skelly) and Dymphna (Mrs. Russell O'Brien) both of Crookwell.

The church of St Andrew's, Laggan was packed for the Requiem Mass celebrated by Fr J Vutz on February 3.

Many beautiful floral tributes were in evidence. The burial took place in the Catholic portion of the Laggan Cemetery and pall bearers were Russell O'Brien and Des Skelly, sons in law and nephews Maurice and Barry Woods.

Obituary

Mrs. Gertrude Woods

Mrs. Gertrude Woods who had been an invalid since she suffered a stroke in 1960 passed away in the Crookwell Hospital on June 3.

Mrs. Woods was well known throughout the Crookwell district and had been born at Binda sixty two years ago. She was the daughter of the late James and Mary Fahey. She received her education at Laggan and OLMC College, Goulburn.

On April 30, 1930, she was married to James Ambrose Woods in St Mary's Church, Crookwell.

Six daughters were born to the couple, five of whom survive.

A daughter Fay was killed in a car accident in 1966.

Her husband passed away suddenly in February this year. The late Mrs. Woods was devoted to her family. Her unselfishness and kindly nature were known to many.

For fifteen years after her marriage she cared for her invalid father in law, the late Henry Woods.

Since becoming an invalid herself, the late Mrs. Woods had been subjected to pain and suffering which she bore with fortitude and courage.

She had an unwavering faith in her religion and was a devout Catholic. In spite of her affliction she possessed a strong will to live and took an interest in her family's activities. Her main interests were her family and home.

She was a keen follower of cricket and football.

Rev Fr J P Bartley officiated at Requiem Mass in St Andrew's Catholic Church, Laggan, and later at the burial in the Laggan Cemetery. Pall bearers were Messrs Jack and Mick Fahey (brothers) and Des Woods and Tom Fahey (nephews).

She is survived by daughters Mayzie, Gwen and Robyn of Laggan, Mildred (Mrs. Skelly) and Dymphna (Mrs. Russell O'Brien) both of Crookwell. Also surviving is a brother Maurice of Glenerin, step mother Kate Fahey of Binda, step brothers Mick and Jack Fahey, step sister Mary (Mrs. Bill Hogan, Grabben Gullen), Joan (Mrs. Ray Fraser, Belfields).

She married MICHAEL MARCELL STRENGER 27 May 1955 in St. Canice's Catholic Church Rushcutters Bay NSW, 8051/1955, son of SILO STRENGER and SOPHIE. He was born 19 Dec 1923 in Vienna Austria, and died 06 Jun 1980 in Wahroonga NSW.

MICHAEL MARCELL STRENGER:

It seems that Michael was born in Vienna on his parents' trip back there in 1922 but he did not like Austria because of what they did to the Jews (he was Jewish as where they and his parents' families suffered under the SS) and when he was filing in his military details said he was born in Chicago as he hated Austria. His parents return to Vienna and both died there - his mother did come here to Australia but the weather did not suit her and she returned to Vienna.

JAMES JOSEPH KNIGHT:

Murder Charge Follows Tweed Shooting 12.1.1959

Murwillumbah police have charged a 36-year old man with murder, following a Crystal Creek shooting on Saturday.

The arrest followed the death of James Joseph Knight, 36, married with four children at Crystal Creek, about eight miles up the North Arm of the Tweed River from Murwillumbah.

The shooting occurred on a road near a dip yard, where Knight had gone to sell cattle.

A man is custody at Murwillumbah police station and will appear in the Murwillumbah Court this morning.

Two Rifles Held By Police

Police have taken possession of two rifles – a .303 and a .22.

Det. Sgt. A.J. Burton and det. H. R. Fredericks have come from Lismore to assist in inquiries.

Last night, Det-Sgt Burton said that Knight had been shot on the road near the dip yard about 12.45 P.M. on Saturday about 300yd from his home.

An ambulance took him to Tweed District Hospital where he was examined by Dr. W. Cletus Smith, who pronounced life extinct.

A post-mortem later revealed that the two bullets had entered the upper part of the man's body.

Det. J Winter and Sgt. R. Parkes, of Murwillumbah visited the scene of the shooting soon afterwards and took possession of the two rifles.

Det-Sgt. Burton said that police took a man into custody and he was charged later with murder, at the Murwillumbah police station.

He said that police inquiries revealed that Knight had gone to the dip yards, where he has sold a number of cattle to a Murwillumbah cattle agent.

Det. Burton said inquires revealed that a man had drive a car, in which there were tow rifles, to the scene of the shooting soon after mid day on Saturday.

Bullets were fires from both rifles and two bullets from one of them struck Knight, Det. Burton said.

Remanded on Murder Count

Vincent Joseph Guinea appeared in Murwillumbah Court yesterday morning, charged with having murdered James Joseph Knight, 36, at Crystal Creek on Saturday last.

Police allege Guinea shot Knight to death with two bullets form a .303 sporting rifle after first firing at him with a .22 rifle on the road near a dip yard.

Police offered no evidence yesterday.

Guinea, a 34-year- old banana grower, of Crystal Creek, is the father of four children.

His attractive wife and his elderly mother were the only members of the general public in the court room during the brief proceedings. A small group of about 10 people stood across the street from the courthouse.

Mr. C.H. Hubbard, J.P. remanded Guinea to a coroner's inquiry on February 19.

He was refused bail, sought by Mr. E. H. Attwood (for Guinea)

Det. J. Winter, who arrested Guinea with Sgt. R. Parkes on Saturday, said police objected to bail owing to the serious nature of the charge.

Guinea, his wife and his mother were composed during the short hearing, but all three broke down as Guinea and his wife embraced immediately the court adjourned.

Police allowed then to talk for several minutes in the courtroom.

Knight, a cane cutter and dairy farmer, had lived with his wife and four children at Crystal Creek. Knight's funeral leaves the Catholic Church, Murwillumbah for the Catholic Cemetery, Uki Road, this morning.
